– Women's Wear Daily

Now, perhaps more than any other time in decades, millions of Americans are searching for answers and looking for deeper meaning in their lives. Many feel as if they have been cast adrift due to financial challenges, layoffs and the stress associated with the many changes that are now being felt on a global scale.

Fortunately, we can find comfort – even great inspiration – by following the example of enlightened and spiritual individuals throughout the world who have found meaning in their lives by asking the simple yet profound question, "What's my karma?" As prophets and religious leaders -- especially those following spiritual practices like Buddhism and Taoism -- have shared with their followers for thousands of years now, gaining an insight into one's karma can unlock the meaning and unseen forces associated with those areas in life that we all consider most important – relationships, power, success, health, wealth, and happiness. For evidence that millions of Americans now place great value in approaches of this kind, one need look no farther than the fact that the documentary "The Secret" sold millions of DVDs and books, and Oprah Winfrey's ten-week teleclass with author Eckart Tolle almost literally caused an internet "meltdown" due to its phenomenal popularity.

For years now, thousands of New Yorkers who recognize the value of understanding their karma have sought the insight of one unique and extraordinarily gifted individual – Lilith Dove. This gifted intuitive recognized at a very early age that she had access to important information that could help others find the meaning they so eagerly sought in order to overcome challenges, make sense of perplexing situations, and find the most promising path to happiness and fulfillment in life. Dove’s unique approach in serving those who seek into the transformative power of this information truly separates her from others who offer readings and access to messages from loved ones who have “crossed over.”

Offer Your Viewers An Extraordinary, Live Demonstration

Many individuals who claim to have a gift for tapping into the information that can be accessed on this intuitive level, boasting access to information from loved ones “crossing over,” seem eager for the kind of adulation usually reserved for rock stars and those in the movie industry. In contrast, Lilith Dove’s modesty and desire to truly serve others is a breath of fresh air.

To grasp an understanding of the unique, fascinating, “magic” quality of Lilith Dove’s approach to sharing information about karma with those in search of answers, there is no substitute to witnessing the process live and in person. Unlike so many self-proclaimed psychics and intuitives who obviously rely on “cold reading” – picking up on the body language and physical clues of the individuals who seek their counsel, Lilith Dove’s approach is “blind” – and truly remarkable.

In her “Off-Broadway” presentations with audiences, before Lilith Dove even meets those in attendance, a tray of simple white cards is carried row by row, and everyone is invited to take one card to hold for a few minutes. Those who have seen “The Secret” will not be surprised to learn that the “energy” of each person holding a card transfers their unique energy to that particular card. Once that “transfer” has been achieved, the cards are collected in the same tray – and Lilith Dove, for the first time, meets her audience. Then, in a truly extraordinary process – as she holds each of those simple white index cards one at a time – Dove shares the insights and revelations that come to her, in a rapid-fire stream of information. During this process, the audience is – without exception – transfixed and “mesmerized.”

Once Dove has completed her rapid-fire series of intuitive readings, it’s time for back-and-forth communication with the audience. The specificity and deeply personal nature of the information she offers while “connecting” with each card quickly makes it clear that this is not a series of “wild guesses” as some kind of “stunt,” and – as you will see by clicking on the video link below – is a truly “ego-less” process, completely different from anything you’ve ever seen before. (Yes, this is a press release – but I can personally assure you (as a longtime journalist) that to witness Lilith Dove “at work” is something that you will never forget. That fact explains the many individuals who attend events time after time.)

To witness for yourself how Lilith Dove accesses the answers and information sought by those in search of answers to questions about life, love, work, success and happiness, visiting her website will underscore the fascinating and totally unique approach of this gifted individual.
